EDITORIAL

Here in Serre Chevalier Briançon, the mountains reveal themselves at their most vibrant.

They are, of course, a playground for sport, offering exceptional terrain for cycling, hiking, trail running, white-water activities, climbing, and outdoor pursuits for the whole family.

But they are also cultural, festive, rich in heritage, and deeply alive.

Throughout the season, the valley of Serre Chevalier and the town of Briançon come alive with a host of events that make the heart of the destination beat faster: sporting competitions, festivals, artistic gatherings, major musical highlights, friendly get-togethers, and shared moments at altitude.

At a time when travelers are seeking more meaning, well-being, and authentic experiences than ever before, the summer mountains stand out as an obvious choice. At 1,300 meters above sea level and far beyond, Serre Chevalier Briançon offers an unrivalled luxury: freshness. The freshness of the air, the forests, the mountain streams, the cool evenings at altitude and the wide open spaces. A freshness that invites you to slow down, breathe deeply and recharge... but also to move, explore, and feel alive.

This summer is also looking to the future. With the 2030 Winter Olympic and Paralympic Games on the horizon, the entire region is projecting itself forward, innovating and reinforcing its identity as a dynamic, accessible and committed mountain destination.

Serre Chevalier Briançon asserts its uniqueness: that of an inhabited, generous, and welcoming mountain, where visitors come in search of both intensity and the dolce vita.

A festival designed as a meeting point for diverse artistic expressions and as a space for encounters between generations, cultures and stories, offering around twenty performances in total, for all ages and all tastes.

“Swing in the Mountains” festival

August 9-16, Chantemerle, La Salle-les-Alpes, Le Monétier-les-Bains

This 23rd edition of the swing, soul, gospel, jazz and blues festival will pay tribute to the great Jamaican artist Jimmy Cliff. The festival’s patron is Emily Johnson, discovered by John McLaughlin and produced by Narada Michael Walden, the legendary Oscar-winning producer known for his work with Whitney Houston, Aretha Franklin and Mariah Carey. Emily will present a show titled “Emily Johnson Meets Whitney Houston” to close the festival in style on August 16 in Le Monétier-les-Bains.

A free public masterclass will also be offered from August 12 to 15.

KEY DATES

Summer Jazz Festival

August 18-21, Chantemerle, La Salle-les-Alpes, Le Monêtier-les-Bains

For its 4th edition, the Serre Chevalier Summer Jazz Festival remains true to its identity and artistic vision, once again showcasing outstanding musicians influenced by classical music and contemporary experimentation, as well as traditional music, while preserving the authentic spirit of jazz and improvisation.

Haute Route

August 24 & 25, Briançon and villages

The Haute Route celebrates its 15th anniversary this year! Created in 2011, it is the world's most prestigious multi-stage event for amateur cyclists, offering an experience close to professional racing. During Stage 2, riders will start in Cuneo and head to Briançon via the Col d'Izoard. The following day, they will leave Briançon for Alpe d'Huez via the Col du Lautaret.

Alps Epic

September 9-11, Chantemerle

Alps Epic is a mountain bike race following the route of the "Grande Traversée VTT des Hautes-Alpes". Stage 3 will take riders from Montgenèvre to Chantemerle, passing through Le Monêtier-les-Bains. The following day, they will ride the entire Guisane valley up to the Galibier, on a looped course starting from Chantemerle. On September 11, they will set off from Chantemerle to reach Vars.

Serre Che Trail

September 12 & 13, Le Monêtier-les-Bains

ACTIVITIES

Activities adapted for people with disabilities

“Tourisme et Handicap” label

Created in 2003, Tourisme & Handicap is a state label managed by Atout France since May 2024. It is currently the only certification dedicated to tourism accessibility for people with disabilities and is unique in the world.

All Tourist Information Offices of the Serre Chevalier and Briançon Tourist Office have been awarded certification for all four types of disability (hearing, intellectual, physical and visual) for more than 10 years; the label is currently being renewed in 2026. Staff are trained to welcome visitors with disabilities, adapted brochures are available and access to the offices is made easier.

This summer, a new “Easy to Read and Understand” booklet on the Vauban Citadel will be published, complementing the braille and large-print brochures already available. A series of similar booklets will soon be released to make the history and heritage of the Serre Chevalier valley accessible to as many people as possible.

A wide range of adapted activities

Several organisations offer adapted activities:

- paragliding flights with adaptive “handi-flight” chairs
- white-water activities with trained instructors or “River & Disability” packages for rafting, airboat, and hydrospeed
- equestrian centre and equine-assisted therapy

An inclusive race format at the Serre Che Trail: the Serre Ch’Ensemble

On September 12, 2026, the 5 km / 250 m D+ race of the Serre Che Trail is an inclusive and solidarity-based walking and running format, open to everyone as well as to athletes with intellectual, psychological and neurodevelopmental disabilities. All registration fees are donated to a charitable organization.

NEW IN 2026

Adapted heritage tours

This summer, inclusive heritage tours of the Serre Chevalier valley will be offered. They are adapted for all people with disabilities, particularly those with visual impairments and are free of charge. For several years now, sensory tours have also been offered, allowing everyone to discover the heritage through all the senses, while raising awareness of diversity and difference.

NEWS

Cycling, rugby, trail running: Briançon confirms its status as a land of high-level sport

New partnership between Serre Chevalier Briançon and the professional cycling team Bahrain Victorious

Briançon will host the Bahrain Victorious team from July 10 to 24, 2026, a benchmark on the UCI WorldTour circuit. No fewer than 20 riders from this squad, ranked among the world's top teams in the 2025 UCI standings, including Pello Bilbao, Matej Mohorič, Santiago Buitrago, and Lenny Martinez, along with 12 staff members, will carry out a high-altitude training camp in preparation for the Tour of Poland and the Vuelta.

This partnership with the Serre Chevalier Briançon Tourist Office will also include a number of public-facing activities, such as exchanges with young members of local cycling clubs, a signing session at the Centre Sportif d'Altitude and a public meeting with the Bahrain Victorious team during a mountain pass ascent.

A Haka Rugby Global training camp in Briançon this summer

Briançon will host a session of the renowned Haka Rugby Global Camps from July 6 to 10. Organized by the UP & UNDER agency, specialists in team logistics and sports event management, and in partnership with the Rugby Club du Pays Briançonnais, this training camp is aimed at young players from local clubs as well as those visiting the area on holiday with their families.

It will be supervised by Troy Nathan and Regan Sue, former professional players now recognized coaches.

Led by New Zealand coaches who will share their rugby philosophy, technical expertise, and the richness of Māori culture, this camp will offer both a formative and inspiring experience, conducted in English to help young players from Briançon improve while having fun.

Continuation and expansion of the partnership with the French Athletics Federation (FFA)

The French trail running and mountain running teams will return to Briançon as early as May 2026. The partnership continues and is expanding, with the arrival of 70 athletes and members of the French team to prepare for the European Championships.

NEWS

Serre Chevalier has renewed its partnership with Paris La Défense Arena

Signed in 2024, the partnership between Serre Chevalier and Paris La Défense Arena has been renewed until June 2027.

As the first ski resort to enter into a partnership with the major Paris concert venue, Serre Chevalier aims to strengthen its visibility and brand image at a national and even international level by reaching the audience of Paris La Défense Arena—the largest indoor arena in Europe, with a capacity of up to 45,000 people—through major events with strong audience reach. This partnership gives the resort the opportunity to expand its reach to a broader public, particularly in urban areas.

This partnership represents a strategic lever for the resort, enabling it to reach diverse audiences who are not necessarily familiar with the mountain world, and to showcase the destination's strengths to these new audiences, in line with its dynamic and experiential values.

Thanks to the partnership, Serre Chevalier benefited from visibility on the forecourt screens and inside the venue during various events and concerts in 2024 and 2025 (broadcast of promotional videos and the logo).

Activations were also organised during selected events, including concerts by Gims, Lenny Kravitz, Dua Lipa, Jean-Louis Aubert, Hans Zimmer, the Pièces Jaunes charity gala, Racing 92 rugby matches, and Artus's show.

On site, a dedicated Serre Chevalier area was set up and decorated in the resort's colours in the concourses for the duration of the partnership, offering prizes to win and hosting various activities. On the digital side, social media competitions and newsletter campaigns were also carried out.

Paris La Défense Arena has just announced an exceptional series of 16 upcoming dates this autumn featuring an international artist, in which Serre Chevalier will be proud to take part!
